RICHMOND

Judge Benton's Tax Decision.

Judge Benton has sent to the Circuit Court at Richmond his ruling in the Berea college case that has been pending before him. One of the State's revenue agents instituted a proceeding to have certain properties of Berea college assessed for taxation. The college claimed an exemption under Section 170 of the Constitution which exempts institutions of purely public charity and institutions of education not used or employed for gain by any person or corporation, and the income of which is devoted to the cause of education. The State did not claim the college buildings and grounds can be taxed, but insisted that certain adjuncts, such as the water plant, a laundry, a printing office, a store and a hotel operated by the college should be taxed, because they come in competition with individuals who do pay taxes on similar business enterprises. Judge Benton, following the opinion of the Court of Appeals in the Midway Orphan school case, which held that a proper construction of Section 170 of the Constitution requires the exemption of the entire property of this institution wherever situated and in whatever form its investments may be found, held that all these adjuncts are exempt; that the "trail goes with the hide."

Wilson's Proclamation.

The following Thanksgiving proclamation has been issued by Governor Augustus E. Willson: "By the custom of our fathers all of the years since 1639, and following the proclamation of the President of the United States, I appoint and set aside Thursday, November 23, 1911, as a day of Thanksgiving to our God for His bounty and His blessings. Our country has been spared the trials of war and the burdens of sorrow and suffering. We have enjoyed the blessings of peace and of a high degree of happiness and generous gifts. No civil disorders have brought sorrow or shame to our Commonwealth. We have kept the covenant of the law with each other and with our Maker. We have maintained peace, neighborly good will and friendship throughout the boundaries of the Commonwealth without reproach. We have enjoyed the blessing of liberty and complete freedom under the law. The public peace and the fair name of the State have not been marred by feuds by lawless hands. Our people have worked together with free good will and honest respect for each others' opinion, faith and feelings as they never did before. The solid foundation of sound government laid by our fathers has upheld our institutions and fulfilled the just expectations of our forefathers. Our factories have produced a great output. All our business interests have prospered, and for all these gifts and blessings to our country and old Kentucky, I call upon our people to gather in their homes and churches to render praise and thanks to our Lord. Given under my hand and the seal of the State at the Capitol at Frankfort, this November 13, 1911, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundredth and thirty-sixth.

"AUGUSTUS E. WILLSON,

Governor.

"BEN L. BRISNER,

Secretary of State.

"R. A. COOK,

Assistant Secretary of State."

Lost Overcoat.

On last County Court day some one took from the office of Duncan & Son's livery stable a good overcoat and left it in its place an indifferent one. Party who took the coat probably did it by mistake. He is supposed to be known and is asked to return the coat and get the one he left.

Hog Cholera Remedy.

This is my third venture of warning farmers of hog cholera, that dread disease. Seeing Dr. V. P. Smith's explosion of the big bomb at Washington C. H., declaring that virus and serum furnished by the state of Ohio to prevent cholera in hogs has an unprecedented spread of the disease, which now bids fair to cost Ohio farmers nearly $5,000,000. I am no doctor, but a retired farmer. What I know is simply from a practical knowledge and careful study of all sorts of farming, and more especially on hog raising. I never lost a hog by cholera. Many of my neighbors did. I gave them nothing but copers in their drink. They won't take enough of it to hurt or kill them. In case of severe cholera attack give it freely, and if possible, drench them with copers water. A dime worth of copers will save $1,000 worth of hogs. If farmers would co-operate with my views there would be no great soaring on the price of pork.

Does Any One Know?

When a man asks a woman to marry him, she tells her mother, goes without gloves in zero weather to show off her ring, makes a confidant of every girl she knows in order that they may have plenty time in which to get up kitchen showers, etc., and keeps lingerie in the parlor, in order to show it. Still, she falls over in a fit if the announcement is made in the papers. Does any one know why this modesty that outstrikes the violet is displayed in regard to newspapers?—Midway Clipper.

A Barnyard Question.

[Leslie's Weekly.] Said old Farmer Jenkins to his wife, As she sat by the fire knitting, "When an old hen broods on a nest of eggs, Is that hen sitting or sitting?" "Well I don't know as to that she replied; "But this puzzle to solve I am trying: When a hen cackles to beat the band, Is that hen laying or lying?"

A Pertinent Question.

Mr. Bryan, in the Commoner, asks President Taft a very pertinent question, as follows: "Mr. President—Why do you begin a suit in equity instead of a criminal prosecution against the officials of the Steel Trust? In your Attorney General's position, the defendants are charged with the violation of a criminal law. Why do you hesitate to ask for a conviction and imprisonment? Is it because the anti-trust law is now worthless as a criminal statute, since the Supreme Court has, by judicial legislation, put the word 'unreasonable' in it? Or, is it because you are afraid to punish big criminals as severely as you do little criminals? You ask me to name a trust that cannot be punished under the present law. I name THREE—the Standard Oil Trust, the Tobacco Trust, and I call you as a witness to prove that the law, as amended by YOUR JUDGES is worthless as a criminal law? Will you admit it, or do you prefer to take the position that big criminals should not be sent to the penitentiary? Explain WHY you do not prosecute the Steel Trust officers under the criminal law?"

Convicts Rival for Presidency.

Henry Youtsey, serving a life sentence for killing former Governor William Goebel, and Curtis Jett, also serving a life sentence for killing James Cockrell and J. R. Marston, both in the Kentucky penitentiary, are rival candidates for the presidency of the Christian Endeavor Society within the prison. Heretofore politics has not entered into the races for the offices of the religious societies, but this year Youtsey has the backing of the Republicans and the disgruntled Democrats, while Jett has the support of the Democrats and the progressive Republicans. Youtsey and Jett were rival candidates last year and, after the election, Jett applied to Warden Mudd for a contest. Every precaution is being taken for a fair election.
